This annual guide provides information on recommended software programs and multimedia applications for K-12 use. An introductory section describes the evaluation process and lists the highest-rated programs for 1998-99. The program entries are organized by the following subject areas: the arts, early childhood, health, language arts, mathematics, problem solving, reference, science, social studies, student helper, and tools. Each entry includes title, publisher, copyright date, grade level, subject areas, cost, hardware requirements, magazine review citations (if available), a description, applications for diverse learners (if applicable), tips for use, and evaluator comments. A total of 79 programs are listed; 67 of these are new to the guide and 12 are "OTB (Only the Best) Classics." A software publisher directory, interdisciplinary index, and title index are included. (MES)

"The Prentice Hall Choices in Literature is a balanced, integrated approach to language arts. Using literature as a base, the program develops students' capacities to read, write, speak, and listen, and helps them to connect literature to other content areas. At the same time, it fosters habits of critical thinking, aesthetic appreciation,

This is a basic writing text for students in a sentence to paragraph course. It is a combination rhetoric/grammar text, with readings (with accompanying apparatus) at the back of the text. Focuses on the connection between writing and speaking.

Along These Lines is one of the most accessible and engaging rhetoric/reader/grammar texts available for developmental writing students. Each self-contained chapter is filled with numerous activities reinforcing the stages of the writing process: Thoughtlines, Outlines, Roughlines, and Final lines. The Rhetoric Section includes lively exercises that have students create with groups, interview classmates, and react through peer review forms; more emphasis on learning by doing. Charts, checklists, examples, and exercises reinforce each teaching concept as soon as it is introduced; and a re-cap of the stages of writing - the outline, draft, and final version of a sample assignment - are all in one easy place for reference in each chapter. The Reading Section features a separate and detailed chapter on reading critically and writing from reading, covering the steps of prereading; reading/rereading, annotating, and reacting in writing to an author's ideas; readings that appeal to the traditional and non-traditional student; selections focus on such topics as the workplace, getting an education, family relationships, and generation gaps; and "Topics for Writing" sparked by the content of the readings and designed to elicit thinking, not rote replication of a model. The Grammar Section, called "The Bottom Line," incorporates grammar concepts taught step-by-step, as in "Two Steps to Check for Fragments"; Tear-out exercises that reinforce grammatical principles and eliminate pressure for instructors to prepare additional materials and sections that are easily adapted for individualized assignments and/or quick reference for both instructor and students.
